

SEMINARI D'ESTUDIS DOCTORALS 2021-22

Institució Milà i Fontanals de Recerca en Humanitats (CSIC)

DESCRIPTION

The department of Historical Sciences-Medieval Studies of the Institució Milà i Fontanals de Recerca en Humanitats (CSIC, Barcelona) is delighted to invite proposals for paper presentations at the “XX Seminari d'Estudis Doctorals”, which will take place on-line from October 2021 to June 2022.

The Seminari d'Estudis Doctorals are specifically targeted to those students in the last years of their doctoral studies and those who have recently submitted their doctoral thesis for examination, as well as to all those researchers who obtained their PhD degree in the previous 12 months. The purpose of this series of seminars (25 minutes for presentation, followed by Q&A) is to give those students and doctors the opportunity to discuss and share their research with an audience of doctoral students, young researchers and experienced scholars.

We welcome proposals relating to various trends of research and a broad range of disciplines, but with a main focus on Medieval Mediterranean and the Iberian peninsula, from various perspectives (archaeology, art history, history, literature, philology).

HOW TO SUBMIT

Please submit abstracts of no more than 250 words and a 1-page CV by 6th October 2020 to the following address: estudismedievales@imf.csic.es. Abstracts and presentations can be in the following languages: Catalan, English, French, Italian, Portuguese, and Spanish. Successful applicants will be notified at the beginning of October 2021.

Note that the speakers of the Seminari d'Estudis Medievales will receive a certificate attesting their participation to the seminars.
